This Marist Poll Reports:

President Barack Obama's approval rating has hit a new low, and voters remain dissatisfied with his handling of the economy. And, now, there is also increased dissatisfaction with how the president is handling the war in Afghanistan.

According to this Marist Poll, 48% of registered voters nationally disapprove of how the president is dealing with the situation in Afghanistan while 44% approve. Seven percent are unsure.

When Marist last reported this question in June, a majority of registered voters -- 53% -- approved of how Mr. Obama was handling the conflict while 39% disapproved. Eight percent, at the time, were unsure.

The change has occurred among Republican and independent voters.

By party:

- Nearly two-thirds of Republican voters -- 65% -- and a majority of independents -- 56% -- disapprove of the way the president is dealing with the war in Afghanistan. In June, those proportions were 53%, and 41%, respectively.
- Among Democratic voters, 67% approve of how President Obama is handling the situation while a similar proportion -- 70% -- did so a few months ago.

Voters also divide about how the President is handling the situation in Libya. 42% approve of the way he is dealing with it, and 42% disapprove. 16% are unsure. In June, 44% applauded the president on the issue while 40% thought his approach was flawed. 16% were unsure.

How the Survey was Conducted

Nature of the Sample: National Poll of 1,042 Adults

This survey of 1,042 adults was conducted on September 13th and September 14th, 2011. Adults 18 years of age and older residing in the continental United States were interviewed by telephone. Telephone numbers were selected based upon a list of telephone exchanges from throughout the nation. The exchanges were selected to ensure that each region was represented in proportion to its population. To increase coverage, this land-line sample was supplemented by respondents reached through random dialing of cell phone numbers. The two samples were then combined. Results are statistically significant within ± 3.0 percentage points. There are 825 registered voters. The results for this subset are statistically significant within ± 3.5 percentage points. The error margin increases for cross-tabulations.
